

Saving Time, Space, and Dollars

BROWNWOOD FARMS

What if there was a company that was willing to tackle those repetitive tasks that take your employees time and consume valuable space in your facility? And what if they could tackle those tasks at a lower cost? The tasks could include literally everything from stamping thousands of envelopes for that upcoming direct mail program, filing, or preparing products for shipment.

Natural foods producer Brownwood Farms, fulfilling orders for preserves, sauces and spreads each day, decided to engage Grand Traverse Industries for just such work: labeling of all their products and filling inventory bins.

Brownwood President Jeff Hughes says the experiment was a great success. "Having GTI improves employee morale because GTI completes a task that employees consider time-consuming and tedious. They are terrific, and I would definitely recommend them to any business that has these types of jobs. We consider them part of our team."
